

Veda Ng
Embroidery on paintings

Veda is a Hong Kong artist specialising in animal and botanical paintings. Favouring traditional techniques, she balances painting (water-based mediums) and sewing, making both paint and thread equally important in her work.

Her paintings feature references to Asian symbols and motifs as well as peculiar-looking animals that are designed by taking inspiration from contemporary animated movies, ancient folklore and her observation of pet behaviours.

Her portfolio covers a range of projects including exhibitions, events, private commissions and print work.

"Hungry panda", watercolour, Japanese paint and thread, 41 x 31 cm

A panda painting is designed for the Food Panda Taipei's head office. The background (geometric shapes and fluid lines in the form of bamboo leaves) is designed specially to complement another artist's graffiti art (second picture- the head of the Bodhisattva by John Fong).

MEET ME
BY THE

BAOBAB TREE

PRESENTS

A VISUAL TRAVEL JOURNAL

BAOBAB has its inaugural art exhibition by Hong Kong artist Veda Ng. She takes inspiration from the animals observed during her recent trips to China and Japan.

Full of childlike wonder and curiosity, Ng's delicate watercolour paintings capture a certain nostalgia from her travels while incorporating cultural motifs and symbolism.

Ng's signature use of embroidery can be seen in this series, highlighting her view on the importance of Asian culture and traditional techniques. Her works encourage viewers to see the simplistic yet unassuming beauty of our daily lives.

Free snacks and drinks available, all are welcome.

Opening on Thursday, August 2nd

Time Out says

Friendly warning! We're working hard to be accurate. But these are unusual times, so please check that events are still happening.

Local artist Veda Ng shows viewers the beauty of ordinary scenes in her series of gold-leafed watercolour paintings

Local artist Veda Ng takes inspiration from a famous Chinese prose "The lotus remains pure, untouched by the slush" to create delicate watercolor paintings featuring scenes of ordinary children, flowers, and animals in their natural surroundings. Full of childlike wonder and curiosity, Ng's paintings captures a certain nostalgia from her travels and experience living in the city while incorporating cultural motifs and symbolism in her canvases.

Ng's signature use of gold-leafing and embroidery can be seen in this series, highlighting her view on the importance of Asian culture and traditional techniques, these works encourage viewers to see the simplistic yet unassuming beauty of our daily lives as well as the importance of those feelings
